As we begin our pilgrimage to Machu Picchu, we follow the Urubamba River up the Sacred Valley stopping in Pisac and Ollantaytambo. The Pisac and Ollantaytambo ruins are the most important ruins in the valley with their agricultural, administrative, social, military, spiritual and political roots. The hillsides are dotted with innumerable Inca constructions, including fortresses and magnificently crafted temples and terraces.

The town of Ollantaytambo is strategically built on a mountainside that dominated the three valleys that come together at this point. The town appears to have been master planned based on the architectural style and layout of its streets and squares, the design of its water and sewage system and the use of massive polyhedral stones and trapezoidal doorways each cut perfectly to fit and withstand any natural disaster.

Overlooking Ollantaytambo is Viracocha – the great creator god in Incan mythology. According to legend, Viracocha rose from the darkness to bring forth light and breathed life into stones to make mankind.

6:30-8:00 Buffet breakfast at hotel

8:30 Be in lobby ready to leave for Pisac and Machu Picchu. *Note: The majority of our luggage will remain at San Agustin Internacional Hotel in Cusco.
